NONPROFIT INSIDER

Serenity Place Welcomes New Board Members

Serenity Place, Manchester's recovery services center, is proud to welcome two new members to the agency's Board of Directors. Approved at the August 23, 2012 meeting, Anthony Messina and Ross Kukish officially join the nonprofit agency's Board, bringing the total members to 14.

Mr. Kukish is co-owner of Greeley Farms Landscaping in Wilton, NH, and holds a degree in economics and finance from Bentley College. He is originally from the Keene area and is part of the Class of 2012 in Leadership Manchester, a program of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Messina lives in Manchester and is a CPA at Maloney and Kennedy, PLLC in Auburn, NH. He is originally from Buffalo, NY and holds a degree from University at Buffalo, SUNY. He is also part of the Class of 2012 in Leadership Manchester.

*Serenity Place is part of the Manchester Continuum of Care and the Greater Manchester Substance Abuse Collaborative, belongs to the NH Providers Association and is the only NH affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence (NCADD).
